The Message Behind the Movement

Shopping for Change $$$

Learn How to Change the World by Shopping Smart and GIVING MORE!

Imagine walking through your favorite retail store and the perfect gift for someone you love jumps right out at you. You run to the item, only to be immediately discouraged by the seeing the high price tag. With so many people to buy for you realize you can never afford to give such an expensive gift to one person. Your joy is immediately snuffed and your desire to give the perfect gift is now a memory. How you wish that you could afford to give the perfect gift just this once!

Eyes filled with tears, you contemplate charging it on your credit card. You can't bear the thought of another year of giving gift cards and entertainment books! But you promised yourself you wouldn't charge any gifts this year. While you debate with your conscience, a shining smile and sweet voice breaks your internal argument. "Hi, my name is Jennifer and I am the Gift Therapist. I have something really special to show you!"

Like a superhero, the Gift Therapist grabs you by the arm and whisks you into corners of the store that you have never seen. With lightening pace and a twinkle in her eye she reveals mountains of merchandise 50, 75 and 90% of the retail price, all the while coaching you on how to nurture your own "bargain vision" powers. Now you can go back and buy that perfect gift that you saw earlier because you only spent a fraction of your shopping budget! Is this a dream come true?

There is just one small catch. The Gift Therapist requests a small favor. With warmth and urgency the Gift Therapist makes a plea. This time, her eyes fill up with tears. She encourages you to do something really meaningful with some of the money that you saved. She explains that sometimes a donation of $10 can change the life of an individual, a family and a community. Imagine the potential of your small gift to produce positive effects that will branch outward throughout the entire world. Suddenly, you truly understand what the Shop Smart GIVE MORE Movement is really all about and you want to be a part of it! It's contagious! Awestruck, you realize that you have now become a shopper with a higher purpose. And that feels really good!

After an afternoon of bargain hunting with the Gift Therapist you will have learned:

- How to buy more gifts with less money
- How to prioritize your gift giving so that you may give more thoughtful gifts to the ones that you love
- How to do great things in the world with the money you save

Shop Smart GIVE MORE. It's easy, it's important, and it's absolutely necessary if we want to see real change in this world. After all, they say real change starts at home. Why not start with your own?
